THURSDAY, NOV 6, 1856.

The grading of the last section of 23! miles of the Lebanon Branch of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, commencing at the town of New Haven in Nelson county and ending at Lebanon in Marion county, has been completed. The city of Louisville has subscribed bonds to the amount of $6,000 per mile be applied to this road as soon as this secon is ready for the rails. The bonds are to be issued after a personal examination by a committee appointed by the General Council. The committee, consisting of D. T. Monsarrat from the Common Council, J. T. Burton from "I don't care whether the rascal supports me or the Board of Aldermen, John W. Gray assistant city engineer, and T. C. Pomeroy, have just returned from their mission and speak in very flattering terms of the neat, substantial, and workmanlike manner in which the road bed has been constructed. For directness of line, easy grade, and durability it cannot be surpassed by any road in the West. Of the bridge masonry, culverts, &c., the committee speak with great praise. Several very large arch culverts have been built by farmers.

The committee commenced their examinait one of the best paying roads. In Marion county alone there are 60,000 bushels of wheat and many hogsheads of tobacco waiting for a market. The citizens of these counties are tending their aid to the road. Some of them have determined to turn out with their teams and haul the ready framed bridges to their respective sites free of charge, in order that there may be no delay in laying the rails. We congratulate our friends in that section on the prospect of the early completion of this great work, which will give them the benefit of a good market and greatly enhance the value of

The Branch leaves the L. & N. R. R 29 miles from Louisville, and is about 372 miles in length. Upon 5 miles of it the track is already laid. The track will be laid to New Haven by the first of December, and, if the iron is ready, the road will be entirely completed by the first of January, when we will be most happy to give our Lebanon friends a hearty welcome in two hours after they leave home, and also to furnish them a good market for all kind of productions in which that section abounds.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river was rising slowly yesterday. A Pittsburg and Cincinnati the telegraph reports it at a stand. The St. Louis News, of Tuesday evening, says:

The rains that have fallen during the past two days have affected the river at this point materially, and it is now on the rise again. Since last evening, ending at noon to-day, it has risen 3 to 4 inches.

The W. H. Douglass and Prima Donna, two new boats, leave for New Orleans to-day, the K. Stevenson and Cuba for Cairo, the Fred. Menz and Grapeshot for St. Louis, the Chattanooga for Tennessee river, and the Cremons is the Cincinnati mailboat.

We learned yesterday that the Cumberland river had risen 5 feet. Officer Ed Williams arrested two last evening in the upper part of the city, who are charged with attempting to shoot a man.

boot shop on Fourth street, below Main, was broken into and several pairs of boots and shoes stolen. Information was given to officer Bligh, who soon discovered several suspected characters about the Cincinnati mailboat with new boots on, and one fellow had a bundle in which a pair of shoes and a pair of boots were wrapped up. Mr. Bligh, aided by the officers of the boat, arrested all three of them. They gave their names as Davis, Burns, and Brown

The fire yesterday evening was in the southern part of the city, beyond Kentucky street. It destroyed the stable of a colored man named Jerry.

> [For the Louisville Journal.] BLAME ME NOT FOR LOVING THEE.

Blame me not for loving thee, For I cannot help it sure: Oft as I try not to love I am sure to love thee more.

You have heard of, no doubt, love, Growing habits that do prove Stronger as they are indulged, So it is with loving, love.

I have loved thee, let me see Just — years this very May, And you see as I indulge Love thee more, love, every day.

Blame thy pretty self, sweet one, If my love too ardent prove. Change thy lovely self or still, O, permit my heart to love!

Spoil the honey of those lips, Spoil the radiance of those eyes, Spoil those gentle words that seem Music-tones from l'aradise.

Spoil those sweet and winning ways. Ay, that very robe that holds Untold wealth of matchless charms Hid in its voluptuous folds.

Spoil the earth and air and sky, All things lovely everywhere, For my loving fancy hath Painted thy sweet image there!

THE NEW YORK HERALD AND GEORGE LAW. We copy from the New York Herald the following quite amusing comments upon the explosion of the political enterprise of making George Law President. George Law has behaved very shabbily and deserves no sympathy in his political reverses.

For a considerable time the New York Herald was the chief engine at work to bring about his election. It bent all its wild and erratic energies to that one purpose. It eulogised its candidate continually as one of the greatest and most remarkable men of the age. We will, however, do Mr. Law the justice to say that he seemed to understand Bennett perfectly even at that time. We were talking with him one day about Bennett's support of him, when he said: opposes me. He is the most perfilious of dogs. His praising a man to-day is no indication whatever that he will not call him a thief to-morrow:"

TERRIBLE STEAMBOAT EXPL\310N-In Po sition. —It has been our painful duty to record several horrible steamboat explosions, but none several norrible steamboat explosions, but none more terrible than the recent collapse of the apparently staunch craft, the George Law. Some year ago or more the George Law went into the dry dock, was turned over on her beam ends, duly scraped, coppered, and fitted out with an entirely new set of political machinery. The Geo. Law then started with a transaction of steambally had a steambally ha The committee commenced their examination at Lebanon. They were accompanied by Ben. Spalding, Esq., vice president of the road, and several other gentlemen.

The road passes through a country, the greater portion of which cannot be excelled in any part of our State. The fifteen counties which have no other outlet but this road cannot fail but make per Fremont; but coming athwart the haws of several vessels bound in the same direction, and being very clumsily handled, the George Law was driven into Salt river, collapsed a flue, her boilers exploded with a tremendous crash, her crew blown sky high, and her fragments scattered in every direction.

To drop metaphor, the recent terrible break-down of George Law, and his last appearance on any stage, at the Academy, have created a degree of interest and excitement much great-er than his equally rapid rise. One of the most remarkable developments in the whole affair is found in the conduct of Law's friends and intimate associates, who now fall to cursing each other with extreme unction. Each charges the other with having been the cause of the demolition of the great idol, and their conduct is rich

Prominent among George's agents was ex-Senator Westcott, of Florida. Ex-Senator Westcott was a sort of privy councillor to Law, bis leads advised. his legal adviser; Westcott prepared his speech es, dictated his political course, gave him bon mots and funny stories for ordinary conversa-tion, furnished bits of poetry for quotation, and dealt out homeopathic doses of historical reminiscences and political records. He was the Dr. Pangloss to this modern Lord Duberly. Since the terrible explosion, poor ex-Senator Westcott has disappeared from the public view altogether; in fact, he is so entirely used up that there is nothing left of him but a queue, which should be carefully preserved in some museum as a great natural and political curiosity. Then there is George Law's spiritual adviser and chaplain-in-ordinary—the Reverend Joe Spoville. He, too, is in great tribulation Another of the same party is Doctor Valentine, who is George Law's physician extraordinary, preserving his constitution both physically and politically, regulating his diet, preparing pre scriptions to keep hum in sound order, and a fit article for fashionable consumption. This last named individual has been thrown into an awful state of mind by the great smashup of his great patron, and has come out with a letter in which he threatens to demolish the chaplainin-ordinary without mercy. Here's the pre-

in-ordinary without mercy. Here's the precious document:

"New York, Oct. 25, 1856.

"Joe Scoville—I will not stay my hand in opening your transactions to the world, and likewise the manner in which you got Mr. Bennett to work the Herald. You know that I have all the points and can raise hell. No sooner was this thing done than you commenced your dirty operations. You who commenced with me, in starting the Law movement, promised to stick to me through thick and thin, and not

BURGLARS ARRESTED .- Night before last a | to injure the man if we did not succeed; under these circumstances you were put in conjunc-tion with George Law by me. You commence the work—go on splendidly until the work is nearly finished, and then, like a cow that has given a good pail of milk, turn round and kick given a good pail of milk, turn round and kick it to hell.

"When I connected you with George Law, I thought I introduced a gentleman and was willing to stand the responsibility. You have, therefore, by your dirty action, thrown me into an embarrassing position, which ought to justify me in blowing your God damn brains to the four winds of Heaven. It is the opinion of the Florence House that you are a first rate damp s = a = ...

"George Sherman says you have broken you oath to him, and he therefore is likewise of the oath to him, and he therefore is likewise of the same opinion. The programme of my lecture will shortly be out, in which I will expose your whole proceedings to the public, and if you attack me in the Herald (as what I shall say will be the truth, and nothing but the truth), I will proceed immediately to dispatch you to that bourne from whence no son of a bitch like you ever returns. ever returns.

"WM. VALENTINE, M. D."

Some of the language used by the Doctor may strike our readers as slightly unprofes-sional, but we give it to show the style of conversation which obtains in the upper circles of political life, and how mixing in good society gives one that easy flow of wit, that charm of repartee, that unctuous humor, that refined courtesy, which make the letters of Walpole, De Stael, Chesterfield, De Sevigne, and Valentine alike welcome in the library of the scholar or the hundry of the hearty. scholar or the boudoir of the beauty. How refined must have been the political reunions of the great statesman George Law, when such elevated language as that of the above morceau was mingled with the porping of champagne corks and the swallowing of oysters in every style!

The representative of the medical profession charges the representative of the clergy with perjury, with kicking a good pail of milk (that's an elegant metaphor) to a place unmentionable, reflects on his character generally, and threatens to blow his ('the Rev. Joseph's) brains to the place where the Rev. Joseph's) brains to the place where the Rev. Joseph kicked the pail of milk. If that is a nice opening for a fight—a mighty pretty quarrel, as Sir Lucius O'Trigger would say—we never saw one. We fancy it is only the beginning of a series of remarkable disclosures.

But the most amusing part of the whole affair is what the physician-in-ordinary says about working the Herald, as if the Herald was a hand-organ, or a steam-engine, or a force-pump, which was at anybody's service who saw fit to apply the motive power. The fact is, the independent course of the New York Herald has so puzzled and mystified the whole batch of blood-suckers who surround George Law, that they fall upon each other, charging treason all around, simply because the Herald, in the course of its duty to the public, exposed a political charlatan, who, without bottom or talent, or even ordinary respectability, had too long imposed upon a too confiding public. By industry and sharp practice George Law has accumulated a large fortune—not so large, however, as is generally supposed. ever, as is generally supposed. He may be something like Barnum in that respect. He evsomething like Barnum in that respect. He evidently supposed from his success in steamboats, contracts, buying up Congressmen, and other trash, that he could also buy up an independent journal to smooth his way to the White House and impose upon the people of the United States a President without talent, magnanimity, ability, or education, but simply because he was a rich man, and everybody must bow down and worship his collars. We believe that he has now found out his mistake. must bow down and worship his dollars. We believe that he has now found out his mistake But we advise all his supporters—Scoville, Valentine, Westcott, and others—to cut loose from him at once, and each to publish a detailed statement of the private history of the whole matter. It would make the richest brochure of the season—next to the book which the Chevalier Wikoff is about to publish on European diplomacy, with an appendix in have discussed the dish that Chevalier Wikoff will give us directly after the election. Let us hear the Law trio, by all means.

Inquest .—The Coronor, Dr. White, held an inquest yesterday evening at the Ferry Landing, in Portland, on the body of John Richard, who was killed in a personal conflict with two men whose names are not positively

The difficulty originated on the ferryboat, about the wagons of the parties interfering with each other. The decased was employed in hauling stone from Indiana to this city, and leaves a wife and two children in New Albany where he resided.

The Murder in Arkansas. - We learned yesterday that Harris, alias Morgan, who murdered Mr. Mosby, ex-sheriff of St. Francis coun-, on the night of the 28th ult., near Marion ty, on the night of the 20th and, it of the Ma-Crittenden county, was taken out of the Ma-rion jail by a mob on Thursday night, who proceeded toward St. Francis county with him. He is doubtless dead before this time. At the time of his arrest he was shot in the arm. He is represented as being a desperate character and the citizens are glad to get rid of him how ever much they deprecate lynch law.

MAURITIUS -There are now in this colony no less than 130,000 coolies, transported thither as laborers. During the last three years the annual supply has ranged from 14,000 to 18,-000, and no difficulty has been experienced in hiring out the men at five rupees a month, besides rations. Owing to the industry of these laborers, the sugar crop of the Mauritius has been raised from seventy millions of pounds to two hundred millions. Hitherto the emigrants have been exclusively males, as Indian women of decent situation have a prejudice against leaving their country. In consequence of this a new arrange ment has been adopted, by which and the proporti on is to be gradually increas- don, Secretary, and J. T. Smith, Treasurer.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: CANYON CREEK, Oregon Territory. September 10, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: Much has been said concerning wars and rumors of war in this Territory. I have seen so much of Col. Buchanan's fight. ing, which he never did, that I for one would like to have honor given where honor is due I saw in your paper, of July 30, an account of his having a fight with the Indians at Big Meadow. Col. Buchanan never was there. The volunteers did all that fighting. Col. B. was never up Rogue river further than Big Bend, and there Capt Smith was surrounded and lost 10 killed and 13 wounded, and, if it had not been for timely aid, he would have lost his whole command. I give you a short sketch of the campaign from the beginning. I was a volunteer in Capt. Ralph Bledsoe's company, and it saw the most trying time of all It lost more men and killed more Indians than all other volunteers and regulars together. The last battle on Rogue river was fought by Capt. Anger's company of regulars and Case's company of volunteers, where we lost one man and had two wounded by the regulars. Col. Buchanan has all the honor of that battle and he was not within ten miles of the place. Had the regulars been left to the fighting the war would not be ended for years to come.

Yours, &c., RED ROVER.

A CLANDESTINE FLIGHT .- "No, sir, I ran away from her."—Bulwer says that society—that is, civilized society—is periodically afflicted with a mania for committing a certain description of crime; either throat-cutting, poisoning, coining, bigamy, and so on down to the lesser grades of misdemeanors not coming within the category yclept "capital." It would seem that the mania at the present time raging with our neighbors in Kentucky is that of running away with other peoples' wives, another of those manuais events having occurred last thirty five. Saturday.

The gentleman has for a long time held an official situation in the pretty town-we beg pardon-city of Newport, where, within the last year, he led to the hymenial alter as fair a bride as ever twinkled a merry eye or pouted a ruby lip, while promising to "love, honor, and obey." Time passed, and life appeared as one summer's holiday, until in an evil hour our fickle official was thrown into contact with a Mrs. S .. mere mature and voluptuous charms took captive his sense, and, as Johnny Booker very for-cibly expresses it, while detailing his own love scrape, "smashed his gizzard."

"Love's blind, they say," and that such is sometimes the case was proven from the darkness which must have enveloped the mental optics of the injured wife, who never dreamed of the alienated affections of her gallivanting spouse until Sunday, when the hor-rid reality forced itself upon her conviction

"Off. off. and away!" and that the naughty Mrs. S. was the companion of his flight. Subsequent inquiries developed the fact that the wicked denouement to this domestic outrage had been for some time concocting, and that the guilty pair are off to the land of gold-Califorland so prolific of disappointed hopes, and the origin of so large a number of "grass widows."—Cia. TEXAS WESTERN RAILROAD .- The annual was held at the office of the Company in New York on Monday, Oct. 6 h. There was a moderately full representation of the stock-holders. It is understood that about twenty-two millions of the five per cent cach in the stocktwo millions of the five per cent stock, in all has been issued. Nearly nineteen millions were represented either personally or by proxy, the larger portion by proxy, although, at the election, votes were cast on only sixteen millions.

The meeting was organized by the election of Hen. Robert J. Walker as chairman, and George F. Allen, Esq., of New York, as secretary.

The object of the meeting was briefly stated by the chairman, and the present condition of the Company as regards its legislative enact-ments, and the policy of Texas as expressed in its recent legislation, was given by the Hon. T.

its recent legislation, was given by the Hon. T.
Butler King.

The remarks of Mr. King were listened to with marked attention, and gave a clear and lucid idea of the rights of the Company under the various land grants, its charter, and the loan bill. These rights are of the most unequivocal character, and are all secured on the completion of a small section of the road. On this the Company have already made fair progress, and it is understood that there will be no difficulty in finishing the portion necessary to satisfy the requirements of the charter. When this Company has the most liberal charter and the largest land grants that were ever given to a railroad company.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of directors for the ensuing year, and the following gentlemen were chosen:

Horatio Allen, New York; F. M. Dimond, Rhode Island; T. Butler Kurg, Georgia; R. M. Stratton, George D. Post, R. J. Walker, Edwin Post, New York; Michael G. Bright, Indiana; Samuel F. The first business meeting of the board was a new arrangement has been adopted, by which appointed for the next day, and Horatio Allen, one fourth of the emigrants must be females, of New York, was elected President, S. Jau-

one of the firm of Stillman, Alien, & Co., of the Novelty Works of New York, and is said to be an engineer of great ability and experience. His election is regarded as a favorable one by the friends of the road.

We learn that further sales of stoc'a nave been ordered discontinued, and that reans have been provided for the vigor as prosecution of the work. Under this state of things we congratulate the stockholders on the selection they have made, and the prospects of the company.

A word more and we have done. The first eight hundred miles of the great Pacific road we regard as secure. About three hundred more in California is already in charge of an organized company in that State Will our national Government now do anything or nothing for the little link of 500 miles through the Gadsden purchase? This is a question replete with interest. And its present position is an anomaly in the history of nations, and a libel upon the intelligence and patriotism of our people. Railroad Record.

A STRANGE STORY -There is a melancholy tale told in the memoir prefixed to the "Poems of the late A. J. Hollingsworth." He was the illegitimate son of a lady standing well with the werld, by whom he was committed (at birth) to a nurse whose name he took. His mother never acknowledged him-never appears to have seen him. When he was old enough to pass out of the hands of the weman whom he was taught to regard as his parent, he was confidentially entrusted to the clergyman who is now writer of his memoir, whom he was taught and also inculcated with a taste for Anglo Saxon. At the age of fif-teen young Hollingsworth began to write verse Before the age of twenty he began to feel the mystery of his position in the world, and to make fruitless, impatient inquiries of his tutor as to the "uncle" who was said to be the paymaster on his account. At the age of twenty he became a lover, was accepted, and, because the tutor could say nothing whatever of his family connection, was spurned as a bastard by the parents of his mistress. He then rebelled against society, and, obtaining through the tu-tor, money from the unknown mother, went abroad, and traveled during the rest of his life up and down the world, learning strange lan-guages, studying strange ways, writing strange verse, and coming home every three or four years to get a fresh supply of money—through the tutor—to spend a few weeks in wandering near the abode of his lost mistress, and to set off again. In 1853 he set off in this manner for Niagara, taking a passage in the Isaac Wright among the common emigrants. But the Isaac Wright struck on a rock, and returned a wreck into the Mersey, cholera having broken out on board, and ferty-seven passengers having been thrown overboard before the ship had regained Liverpool. Hollingsworth was one of those who did not return. He perished at the age of

THE HOG AND PROVISION MARKETS .being some orders in the market for long and short middles for early delivery, for the Liverpool market, and contracts having been made for about 700 boxes at about 8c. for long middles, one or two packing houses have cut about 1,200 hogs, during the week, and have paid $6 25 per cwt. net for them. The weather, how-ever, has not been favorable, and though it was quite cool the forepart of the week, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday were too warm. though it became cool yesterday, again; but until the weather becomes more settled, pack-ing operations will not be carried on to any ex The feeling in the market is decidedly subdued; and the general disposition manifested is that of holding back, until the market fairly opens. The large stock of old meat known to be in the country has a very depressing influence on the market for hogs; because, with the exception of an existing demand for middles for the English market, and a moderate pros pective one for mess pork, the demand from consumers, during the next thirty days, is not expected to be anything more than very moder-Last year a large demand for consumption set in as soon as the season opened; this season nothing approaching this demand is expected and hence it is that no speculative feeling what ever is manifested.

In St. Louis, last Friday, 200 hhds. bacon sides sold in lots at 7c., and sales of the same kind have been made in this market during the week at 71c., so that with such prices as these and a large stock still on hands it is clear that $6 25 is too high for hogs.

A private letter from Belfast, (Ireland) in forms us that there is an increase of 30 per ct. in the receipt of hogs in that market, the present year, for so far, as compared with last year, and that there is no demand of consequence for bacon, as the English markets were being quite freely supplied with new bacon from Hamburg. COL. BENTON'S ABRIDGMENT OF THE DE-BATES IN CONGRESS FROM MARCH 4, 1789, TO THE PRESENT (IME.—The public have already THE PRESENT (IME.—The public have already been informed that the great and very important labor of abridging the Debates of the Congress of the United States had been undertaken by ex-Senator Benton. The work has made more rapid progress than could have been expected, the first volume being already near its completion. This volume will comprise, as we understand, the debates of the four first Congresses that is the first sight were of the work, such as this abridgement of the debates of the National Legislature, should comprise in a separate volume, so as to present a single picture to the mind, the period illustrated Of that wise, august, and serene magistracy. Of that period, how few of this generation know even the outlines, much less the particulars, of its politics; of the questions that occupied the public attention; of the dangers which in its infancy threatened the constitution; of the wisdom, moderation, prudence, intelligence, and perfect love of country that characterized the councils of the government in all its branches, and gave it form and solidity.

The historical works, of which so many most excellent ones have been published, are read by comparatively few persons; nor do they bring out so vividly or so impress the mind dramatic presentation which the abridged de-bates will afford of the representatives of the people discussing the public affairs face to face, as it were, with the reader. The words them-selves of those men, thus brought within the means of every one to purchase and the leisure of every one to read, cannot but find in every one who opens the volume a willing and inter-sted listener. Indeed we will say that, with-out a considerable acquaintance with the debates in Congress, and especially those early ones, a knowledge or appreciation of the history of the country or the workings of the Government cennot be obtained or retained.

In a few advance sheets that we have seen of the forthcoming volume, there are already several most interesting debates, the subjects even of some of which will be new to the mass of readers. For example, among the very earliest subjects discussed was the propriety of bestow-ing titles, after the mode of European courts touching their sovereigns, on the President and Vice President. The Senate favored the adop tion of titles, and its committee on the subject proposed for the Chief Magistrate the style of "His Highness the President of the United States, and Protector of their Liberties." House resolutely and successfully opposed the proposition, and refused to give or receive any other designations than those set forth in the constitution. Unfortunately, there is not any record of the debates on the subject in the Senate, that body having during the first five years of its existence sat with closed doors as well in its legislative as in its executive sessions.

In the House, however, the reports are pret-ty full, and are both interesting and instructive. Though none of the Speakers in that body advocated the proposed or any other extraneous style of title, yet the course of the debate indi-cates the considerations that probably actuated Senators on the affirmative of the question. The Senate yielded to the unanimous convictions of the House, and so the precedent was happily established in the first session of Conthat in all official intercourse the first magistrate shall be addressed only by his con-stitutional designation of The President.— Among the Speakers in the House on this question were Mr. Madison, Mr. Parker, of Virginla, Mr. Clymer, of Pennsylvania, and Roger Sherman, of Connectic t.

The first business introduced into the House of Representatives, after the complete organ-ization of the government by the inauguration of the President, was a bill to collect "duties on imports" It was introduced by Mr. Madison, and a curious and interesting feature of the debates upon it is that every speaker, with-out exception, seemed to regard the protection of home industry as one of the objects to be em-braced, as a matter of course, in any project of raising revenue on foreign importations; but the duties which were to give this protection were only 5, 7½, 10, and 15 per cent.

A bill to establish a "uniform rule of natural ization" was also among the early subjects of discussion in the first Congress. Every speaker in the House was in favor of encouraging immigration and peopling the coun try, the differences relating only to the term of residence that should be required, and whether some mode could not be devised to exclude disreputable persons. One of the members, however [Mr. Page, of Virginia], seems to have had a prescience of what should happen in these latter day. He says: "Indeed, sir, fear if we go on as proposed now, in the in fancy of our republic, we shall in time require a test of faith and politics of every person who shall come into these States." The brevity and practical and direct character, as well as the temperateness and decorum of these earlier de-bates, will attract the attention of every reader and increase his regard for the fathers of the republic and the institutions they established. The plan of this abridgment is not to present merely the opinions of those Sena tors and Representatives who have become most known to fame, but the remarks of every one who shall at any time have spoken in Congress to any matter that retains a public interest. In this way there is perhaps hardly a family in the United States that will not find the name of a connexion, near or remote, presented in the honorable position of a representative of the people, and know the part he acted in the transaction of public affairs. It is only in this way, more or public anairs. It is only in this way, more-over, that a faithful picture can be presented of the discussions of the National Legislature. The plan of the work embraces, also, frequent and sometimes copious explanatory notes of the debates and the circumstances that called them forth; and, at marked periods in the history of Congress and the country, a retrospec-

We shall probably receive the assent of every reader in saying that no living person combines more of the qualities necessary for the proper execution of this work than the veteran ex-Senator who has undertaken it. He unites habits of indetatigable industry and application; a familiar acquaintance with the whole range of American history, and especially with that of Congress: ly with that of Congress; a concise and perspicuous style; sound judgment, and an active and vigorous mind; long experience, and patriotic and liberal sentiments.

THE RE-OPENING OF THE SLAVE TRADE .-The decree which has recently been issued by Gen. Walker, President of the Republic of Nic aragua, re-establishing the institution of slavery, and inviting the importation of negroes, is now attracting much attention.

For our own part we were highly pleased with the decree, for we are decidedly in favor of re-opening the slave trade, in order that the price of negroes may be reduced to such figures that every industrious poor man may purchase and become a slaveholder.

We regard the course pursued by General Walker as not only correct, but challenges the approval of the entire mass of people inhabiting the Southern States, and we believe that they will sustain him in the position he has Assumed.

Hoping and believing that the confederacy now known as the United States of North America will soon be dissolved, we look upon this movement of General Walker as that of a statesman, and we hope the day is not far distant when Central America, embracing the island of Cuba, will form part of the Southern confederacy.—Carolina Times, Oct. 27.

ARREST OF A FRENCH WOMAN FOR SHOP-LIFTING-Recovery of Diamonds, Silks, Furs, &c.-Madame Leon, a French woman, about 45 years of age, residing at No. 135 Grand street, was arrested on Saturday, at the store of Ed-ward E. Loder, No. 130 Broadway, for shop-lifting. She had for some time been in the habit of making handsome purchases at the store, but in every case, soon after she left, more valuable goods than she had purchased were missed. On Saturday she again called, and one of the clerks was set to watch her. She bought some articles, but before they were handed to her she was seen to secrete a roil of black silk work $100 in a pocket of her dress. Officer Keefe of 'he Chief's Office was called in and arrested her. She begged hard to be liberated, and finally confessed to having stolen on every occasion of her visiting the store. Her apartments were found to be fitted up in ele-gant style, and in them the officers found a large tin box full of jeweled odd watches, diamond pins, rings, brooches, studs, and bracelets, beside silver and gold vesse 's, piece of silks, velvets, &c. Among the silks were some which bore the private marks of Mr. Loder. The property was taken possession of by the police, and Madame was committed to the Tombs for examination. She is supposed to be also a receiver of stolen goods.

Chief Kirkpatrick arrested King this morning. At the late term of the Jefferson circuit court, the grand jury brought in a bill against him for being concerned in the murder of Craddock.

It will be remembered that shortly after the murder of Craddock, Officers Powell and Bligh arrested King on the same charge, but, on an examination before the city court, he was discharged. Additional proof has since been discovered, which was adduced before the grand jury and which led to his present arrest.

MAN KILLED -A young man named John Richter, a German, was killed at the Portland wharf yesterday about noon under the following circumstances. Richter has been engaged in hauling stone to the Portland wharf. While crossing the ferry boat with his team he got into a dispute with two brothers named Croker. who had also a wagon on the ferry. The quarrel was renewed at the wharf, when one of the Croker's struck Richter a terrible blow under the chin which severed his windpipe. He died in a few minutes. The Croker's then fled, but were pursued by Officer Crofoot, who overtook them in the neighborhood of the city and lodged them in jail.

SLAVE GIRL IN BOSTON - Hearing before Judge Herrick-The Girl Set at Liberty -A brief and unusual excitement was created in and about the court-house, about noon to-day, from the fact that upon a complaint made by Robert Morris, Esq., a writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Herrick, and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Merrill, directing him to bring with him before the court, a colered girl, named Mary Ann Miranda, who, it was alleged, was restrained of her liberty. The writ also commanded the sheriff to summon one John W. Smith, who resides at No. 7 Seaver Place, to appear and show why the said Mary | hy quiet should not be discharged. It was stated that the girl in question was indented to Mr. Smith, Fi ur quiet; sales at $5 55@5 60. Wheat is firm at $1 15a sided in Smith's family. The girl states that she is now 13 years old, and that about four years ago she left Amville (she could not name the State) in company with Mrs. Smith, with whom she came to this city. She also states that she was sent here by her master to take charge of an infant child; that her master died about two years since, since which time no remittances have been received for the support of that child; that the relatives or family of her deceased master have once sent for her to return, but that Mrs. Smith refused to allow her to go.

The girl in answer to interrogatories from the court, stated that she had not before left Mrs. Smith because she would not let her go, but that she did not wish to live with her any longer, but on the contrary was desirous of leaving her.

Mr. Smith did not appear before the court in answer to the summons, and the court at once ordered the discharge of the respondent, and deand the court at once clared that she was liberty to go where one
